

Is your in the right place?

In the field of heart and vascular care, there are those who lead and those who follow. The doctors at Saint Joseph's Hospital were the first in the southeast to offer angioplasty. They were also the first in the southeast to perform open-heart surgery and, today, continue to lead Georgia in the number performed each year. Saint Joseph's was also the first in Georgia to perform minimally invasive robotic heart surgery without opening the chest. In 2009, our vascular surgeons achieved more five-star ratings than any other hospital in Atlanta. Heart and vascular disease is serious business. You should trust it to the leader in quality and compassion. Saint Joseph's Heart & Vascular Institute's Fellows continue to be the leaders in innovative heart and vascular care.
